ABSTRACT

This booklet has been prepared for those who would like to visit the 25 schools in New Jersey which were provided with special purpose grants under ESEA Title II to serve as demonstration multimedia centers. The schools were selected by a Title II Advisory committee on the criteria of: an effective unified media program, strong administrative support, extensive utilization of the collection by teachers and students, relevancy to the region, in-service programs, qualified staff, and adequate space to support the program. In addition, the schools cover the spectrum of rural-suburban-urban environment and elementary-secondary grade levels. In this directory, each school is cited by name, address, grade level and enrollment, followed by staff, facility, and program annotation and visitation procedures. (SL)

This is the third year Title II ESEA Funds have been used to develop demonstration centers.

The program began in the Spring of 1971 when the Title II Advisory Committee approved the use of funds for special purpose grants to schools which would make their facilities available for visitations. The New Jersey School Media Association made a special study to identify good multi media centers in the State. A Sub-committee of the Title II ESEA Advisory Committee developed a list of schools which would meet the following criteria:

1. An effective unified media program
2. Strong administrative support
3. Extensive utilization of collection by teachers and students
4. Relevancy to the region
5. In-service training of teachers and librarians in the utilization of the media center
6. Qualified Staff
7. Adequate space to support the program and to accommodate visitors

In addition, it was desirable to have the centers geographically distributed throughout the State, with urban, suburban and rural schools represented; a balance between elementary, middle and high schools; and media programs at various stages of development - beginning, developing and advanced.

A good many schools were identified so that it was necessary to eliminate some schools which were represented by staff members serving on the New Jersey School Media Association Library Development Committee. Grants of $10,000.00 to $15,000.00 were given to each district for the identified school, and in some instances the district requested that the grant be shared with another school to show a variation in program.

Mrs. Marilyn Veldof of the School and College Media Services Section of the State Library, is the Project Coordinator, and has developed guidelines for visitation, organized a workshop for local coordinators and prepared report forms.

This booklet has been prepared for those who would like to visit these schools to observe program, see collections of print and non-print materials, examine hardware, and see special features of the media center and the school. Special directions and programs are outlined so that visitors can identify areas of particular interest.
